Description:

Are you looking for a larger flybridge boat in the size 45 - 50 feet of the highest Scandinavian premium quality in the price range of around 3 million SEK? Now on offer is a very nice, well-maintained and significantly upgraded Storebro 475 Commander - one of the most sought-after flybridge boats built in Scandinavia. This is a boat for those looking for uncompromising quality, timeless design, high comfort and first-class seaworthiness.

Storebro has long been synonymous with Swedish boat craftsmanship at the highest level, and the 475 Commander is considered by many to be one of the shipyard's most successful models. Here, exclusive feel and solid material choices are combined with practical solutions for a comfortable boating life throughout the season.

This Storebro 475 Commander, which was sold new to a buyer from England, has been cared for with great care and has undergone extensive renovations and upgrades. With its high finish and minimal wear, the boat gives a very good overall impression even if the teak on its side and foredeck is in need of restoration with new material or replacement with new flexiteak or real teak. Because of this, the boat is now advertised for a price around 200,000 SEK lower than what the boat was advertised for if its teak on the side and foredeck had been in good condition.

The reliable and powerful Volvo Penta TAMD 74P EDC engines in the boat's impressively clean and nice engine room have only been serviced for about 1200 well-serviced hours since new. The engine installation offers a perfect combination of performance, comfort and reliability. The boat, whose hull is better and faster than several of its competitors such as Princess and Fairline equivalent models, comfortably cruises 24 knots and has plenty of power resources for fast and safe sailing even in rougher weather conditions.

The well-planned layout offers generous social areas both exterior and interior. The bright salon with large panoramic windows creates an exclusive and inviting atmosphere, while the well-equipped cabins provide high comfort for family and guests. The boat's flybridge also provides a fantastic view and is quickly becoming a favorite spot during summer boat trips. The boat, which is very well equipped, including both diesel heater and air conditioning as well as water maker etc., is displayed in Trosa and is sold fully ready for the season with a guarantee that its drivelines and all important systems are functional at the time of the boat's sale and delivery. We offer delivery of the boat throughout Europe. Ask us for a quote for transport of the boat to your home port.
